Owen Lattimore Indicted On 7 Perjury Counts

Charged Swearing Falsely He Never Was Red Sympathizer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has accused Owen Lattimore of swearing falsely that he had never been a sympathizer or promoter of communism or Communist interests.

The indictment returned late yesterday also accused the Far Eastern specialist and occasional State Department consultant of lying under oath on six other points during his testimony before the Senate internal security subcommittee last spring. The indictment termed all seven points "material."

"I am, of course, innocent," Lattimore said.

He is due to be arraigned Friday. Trial date may be fixed then. Lattimore has been a frequent target of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) McCarthy said in March, 1950, that he considered Lattimore "the top Soviet espionage agent in America."

"Pure Moonshine"

"Pure moonshine," replied Lattimore, 52-year-old director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

The university president, Dr. Detlev Bronk, announced that Lattimore had been given a leave of absence, with pay, "until a Federal Court shall have passed upon the charges."

McCarthy also has called Lattimore "one of the principal architects of our Far Eastern policy." Lattimore said that wasn't true either.

The indictment prompted Sen. Mundt (R-SD) to call for a congressional investigation "to try to find out the names of the patron saints" of Lattimore and career diplomat John Carter Vincent.

Vincent Suspend

Vincent was suspended by the State Department Monday from his post as minister to Tangier after the Civil Service Commission's Loyalty Review Board ruled there was "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty.

"Some committee should seek the answers as to why Lattimore and Vincent have been protected so long and so effectively in their jobs in the face of all the evidence," Mundt told a reporter yesterday.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) commented that Lattimore's indictment "vindicated the judgment" of the internal security subcommittee, of which he is a member. The subcommittee, headed by Sen. McCarthy, was suspended by the State Department Monday from his post as minister to Tangier after the Civil Service Commission's Loyalty Review Board ruled there was "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty.

NATO Compares Indochina To Korea

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization declared today the French fight against the Communist-led Vietminh in Indochina is as important to the West as the Korean War.

There was no indication that NATO was planning any collective action in Indochina. But a resolution passed at today's council of foreign ministers declared that "resistance to direct or indirect aggression in any part of the world is an essential contribution to the common security of the free world."

The resolution added: "The resistance of the free nations in Southeast Asia, as in Korea, is the fullest harmony with the aims and ideals of the Atlantic community."

Both French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and Jean Le Tournou, minister for overseas territories, had appealed to the Western Allies for as much material and financial support as possible in the war against the vietminh.

The United States and Britain are aiding France—the U. S. with money and arms and Britain with naval support.

Council Acts To Get Federal Street Funds

City Council passed an ordinance Tuesday night designating city segments of state and federal highways as Federal Aid Urban System Routes, thereby qualifying for federal financial aid in the upkeep and repair of the thoroughfares.

Under the aid program, the city would provide 50 per cent of

DiSalle Assumes Controls Post

Replaces Putnam As Economic Stabilizer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle is back in the government's anti-inflation program, this time as economic stabilizer, a job he expects to hold for less than five weeks.

After his appointment by President Truman was announced Tuesday, DiSalle lined up with other controls officials for a news conference and said he planned to return to his Toledo, O., home today but return Monday.

"My first action," he added, "will be to write out a resignation to the new President-elect."

Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration takes over Jan. 20.

DiSalle, who resigned as director of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) to run unsuccessfully as a Democratic candidate for the Senate, will succeed Roger L. Putnam as economic stabilizer. He will supervise price and wage control.

Putnam resigned as of Tuesday to return to private business in Springfield, Mass.

Defense Mobilizer Henry Fowler presided at the news conference. Others attending, besides Fowler and DiSalle, were Putnam, OPS Director Joseph H. Freehill and Chairman Charles C. Killingsworth of the Wage Stabilization Committee.

The group jointly pledged to continue "strong and vigorous controls" during the closing days of Truman's administration.

Tito Breaks Off Relations With Vatican

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito's government broke diplomatic relations with the Vatican today as a follow-up to the naming of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac to the College of Cardinals.

Ales Bebler, deputy foreign minister, informed a Vatican diplomat, Msgr. Silvio Di Oddi, of the action. Msgr. Di Oddi said he had no comment. He has been serving as charge d'affaires here in the absence of the American Archbishop Joseph P. Hurley, the Vatican minister to Belgrade.

Marshal Tito, in a speech Tuesday to workers in a factory near Belgrade, accused the Vatican of hostile activity against Yugoslavia. Tito also threatened to call off a projected visit to London, because of British charges of religious persecution here.

The furor was touched off by British newspaper reports quoting Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Britain's Archbishop of Canterbury, as saying that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would urge Tito to ease up on religious persecution when the Yugoslav leader visits Britain next March.

Tito, speaking before a crowd of about 15,000 in a small factory town Tuesday night, said that the charges of religious persecution were inspired by the Vatican. He declared he would not go to Britain unless at least half the British people want him to come.

street expenses incurred, with the federal government assuming the rest of the financial burden. Part of the city's costs might also be borne by the county, Streets Committee Chairman Carl Abe said.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff was instructed by Council to draw up maps of the street system and forward copies to the State Department of Highways.

City thoroughfares included in the project are Ellsworth Ave., State, Pine, Granite, Mill and New-garden streets, Lincoln Ave. and the Benton Rd.

Sewer Job Approved

In other business Tuesday Council: Passed an ordinance authorizing the city to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer on W. Perry and Granite Sts.

Passed a motion instructing the city solicitor to draw up a resolution requesting our state representative to cooperate with the Ohio Municipal League in the passage of such legislation as it has advocated.

Heard a report from Safety-Serv Director J. Arch Harwood stating that five city street employees had quit their jobs in the past three weeks and that others were contemplating such action.

Mr. Harwood declared that reliable workers were difficult to find at the wages offered by the city and that, consequently, other city employees were often required to work overtime.

Passed a motion that the Water Commission be authorized to lease ground space for a used car lot to be located on city property alongside the pumping station on W. State St.

Jersey Mayor Is Linked To Racketeers

NEW YORK (AP) — A picture of Jersey City's Mayor John V. Kenny as a protector of waterfront racketeers, even to the extent of breaking a vigilant public safety commissioner, was etched today in State Crime Commission records.

Called Untrue

It was a picture described as completely unrealistic by Kenny, who defended himself from New Jersey while showing no inclination to take up the commission's invitation he come to New York today to give his side.

Kenny was the chief topic at yesterday's public hearing of the New York State Crime Commission. Witnesses — whom Kenny later called irresponsible — gave testimony that Kenny associated with underworld figures and that his election in 1949 unleashed lawlessness on the Jersey City waterfront.

Brought About Demotion

One witness, Charles S. Witkowski, said Kenny brought about his public safety to commissioner of public safety to commissioner of public works because he refused to break up a special gambling squad at Kenny's insistence.

The commission was expected to dig deeper into waterfront corruption in Jersey City at the public sessions today. The probes last week sent Kenny a written invitation that he appear today. Kenny immediately turned down the offer, but it still stands.

Taft Seen Top Contender For Senate Leader

Republicans Believe Ohioan Wants Post, Probably Will Get It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence was piling up today that Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) wants to be GOP floor leader in the new Senate and has a strong chance of achieving that aim.

Republican senators in Washington were wary about jumping into the leadership struggle publicly. But they regarded as significant the remarks Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) made to newsmen in New York yesterday after a chat with President-elect Eisenhower.

Carlson came out of the meeting to say he personally would be in favor of Taft for the key Senate post if he wants it.

Carlson, an original Eisenhower booster, said he had discussed Senate organization problems with the President-elect and that Eisenhower "is going to take no personal part in the organization of the Senate."

However, senators here were aware that Carlson made his comments just after leaving Eisenhower. They noted also that most original Eisenhower backers in the Senate previously had been boosting Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) or Saltonstall (R-Mass.) for leader.

Carlson said there will be no contest—that the Republican senators "are going to sit around a table and work it out."

There were divergent stories here about the situation. One GOP senator who did not want his name used told a reporter today the Senate organization problems had all been worked out and that Taft would be floor leader.

This senator said Sen. Bridges (R-NH), who now has the job and says he would take it again to avoid an intraparty dispute, would be president pro tem and appropriations chairman. Knowland would be chairman of the policy committee. Taft's present job, and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) would stay on as chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, he said.

Another source said Taft had made great headway Monday in talking to Republican senators here Monday and had convinced several they should support him for leader.

A third source told a reporter he did not consider Bridges completely out of the leadership picture yet. But he said the New Hampshire senator would have to announce publicly for the job soon to remain in the running.

City To Finish Year 'In Black'

Undepleted Funds To Cover Usual Expenses

Despite its financial worries of the past 12 months, Salem is going to end the year 1952 "in the black."

Finance Committee Chairman Fred Koenreich told other councilmen Tuesday night that he had been informed by City Auditor Mrs. Helen Coyne that the city has enough money in undepleted funds to meet such ordinary expenses as might occur during the balance of the year.

Councilmen declared that much credit was due Mrs. Coyne, Mayor Harry M. Vincent and Safety-Serv Director J. Arch Harwood in cutting expenses to a minimum and keeping accurate records of income and expenditures.

Mr. Harwood stated that the street repair equipment Council has authorized the city to purchase, which eliminated to a great extent the high costs of street work previously done by private contractors, had contributed in large measure to keeping the city's expenditures for the year within its budget.

$25,244 On Hand, Third Of Goal Industrialist's $1,000 Gift Swells Swimming Pool Fund

A donation of $1,000 by a Salem industrialist has helped push the Kiwanis-sponsored swimming pool fund past the one-third mark.

with $25,244.71 in donations and pledges.

The $1,000 donor, who modestly preferred to remain anonymous, has made the largest single contribution to date. The swimming pool goal is $75,000.

Other large donations are expected from Salem firms shortly, which should swell the total to its goal.

Kiwanis members hope to have the total collected by April 1 so that work can begin then on the pool.

Other recent donations to the fund include: First Czechoslovak Club, $125; Loyal Women's Class of the Christian Church, $100.

Kapers Receipts Not Tallied

The proceeds of the Kiwanis Kapers will be added to the fund, but total expenses and income from the event have not been totaled and the amount the fund will benefit has not been announced.

Kiwanis Club undertook the swimming pool project with the aim of providing better recreation for the youth of Salem. Ice-skating is planned for the pool in winter.

Admission will be charged to pay for the upkeep of the pool. Kiwanians started off the drive with a donation of $1,500 and other Salem Civic organizations have joined in working on the worthwhile project.

Numerous Salem children have held backyard carnivals and fairs to do their bit toward providing themselves the fun and exercise a swimming pool will provide.

Pravda Blasts U. N. Killing Of POWs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Community party newspaper Pravda today printed in heavy black type a report that 82 Red prisoners had been killed on Korea's Pongam Island and again bitterly attacked United States' treatment of Chinese and North Korean war prisoners.

In a lead editorial, the newspaper charged that "American aggressors are committing crimes against the 'conscience of humanity.'"

The United Nations Command in Korea announced that Allied guards last Sunday killed 84 Communists and wounded 120 others in quelling a mass breakout attempt by war prisoners at Pongam Island.

Pravda said the Pongam incident was a new "link in the monstrous chain of crimes by the American military who are following the road of Hitlerite tyranny and blood terror."

Aubrey Hayes Will Succeed B. V. BeVier

Water Commission Recommendation Gets Council Okay

Aubrey Hayes, 43, water superintendent at New Concord, O., will replace B. V. BeVier in that capacity here as the result of an agreement reached by Council and the Water Commission Tuesday night.

Mr. BeVier resigned as Salem water superintendent last September, effective as soon as the Commission could find a replacement for him.

Water Commission members Floyd W. McKee and F. P. Mulins told councilmen that the highly-recommended New Concord man was willing to accept the position here at the stipulated $450 monthly salary upon condition that the wage be raised to $500 when he acquires a Class B State Board of Health License.

To Take Over Jan. 16

Presently possessing a Class C license, Mr. Hayes stated that he intended to take the exam for the higher rating early next year. He informed the Commission that, if his terms were met, he could assume his duties here Jan. 16.

Council previously had authorized the Water Commission to raise the stipulated $400 monthly salary to $450 after Commission members had informed the councilmen that they could not induce a qualified and reliable engineer to accept the position here at such a pay scale.

Boosting the monthly salary another $50 was justified, Council and the Water Commission agreed, because Mr. Hayes had, in addition to his water department duties, considerable experience in sewage treatment and disposal plant operation.

Since Salem will be faced with acute sewage problems in the near future, Council and Commission members felt the addition of Mr. Hayes to city personnel might prove invaluable later on.

Another factor affecting Council's decision on the matter was the current heavy demand for water and sewage experts in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, due to the states' demands that their cities make proper and adequate provision for sewage disposal.

The $500 monthly salary is the same as that paid Mr. BeVier.

An Army veteran, Mr. Hayes is a Muskingum College graduate and was employed in the state auditing department and gasoline tax division before accepting the New Concord position.

He served for two years as secretary-treasurer of the Eastern Ohio Sewage and Industrial Wastes Conference.

He is active in community affairs in New Concord as a member of the American Legion, Boosters Club and an official of the Community Chest. He is married and has three daughters.

Truman Acts On U.S. Reds In U.N.

Plan To Guarantee "Maximum Security"

NEW YORK (AP)—President Truman has ordered three branches of the government to collaborate on a plan to guarantee "a maximum of security in U. S. personnel employed at the United Nations."

The directive—revealed here by Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery—has the approval of Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who is in line to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress.

Wiley says the Truman administration "can render a service" by helping to solve the U. N. subversive problem before President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's inauguration Jan. 20.

McGranery announced the presidential order at a news conference yesterday in the office of U. S. Atty. Myles J. Lane. The State and Justice Departments and the Civil Service Commission were directed to work out the security plan. McGranery did not mention what the plan might consist of.

Twenty-nine Americans have been dismissed from the U. N. as a result of various Communist investigations. The firings were largely for refusing to answer questions about Communist affiliations.

In Washington, spokesmen for the State and Justice Departments said last night the President's order had only laid "the ground rules" for the program and that no details had been worked out yet.

The order, McGranery said, was issued as a result of the recent recommendations of a panel of three international jurists to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie.

The jurists, appointed to study the question of U. N. employment policies in the light of charges of subversion, recommended that disloyal Americans on the U. N. staff be fired and that any other U. N. employees also be ousted if they were found to have engaged in subversive activities of espionage against the United States.

The panel also recommended the ouster of any U. N. employee who refused to answer questions about espionage or subversive activities on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Demand Soviets Pay For Downed Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has submitted a new demand for compensation for the U. S. bomber and her eight-man crew lost when they were shot down by a Russian plane near Japan Oct. 7.

A note delivered in Moscow yesterday said the B29, "entirely undefended," was on a routine flight at the time of the attack by the Soviet fighter. The U. S. termed the attack "unprovoked and unjustified."

This government rejected a claim by Moscow, made in a note dated Nov. 24 and published by the State Department yesterday, that the bomber had violated the Russian border and fired on the Red plane first. Russian said it had no information on the eight crew members.

WWVA To Give Eskimos Christmas Greeting

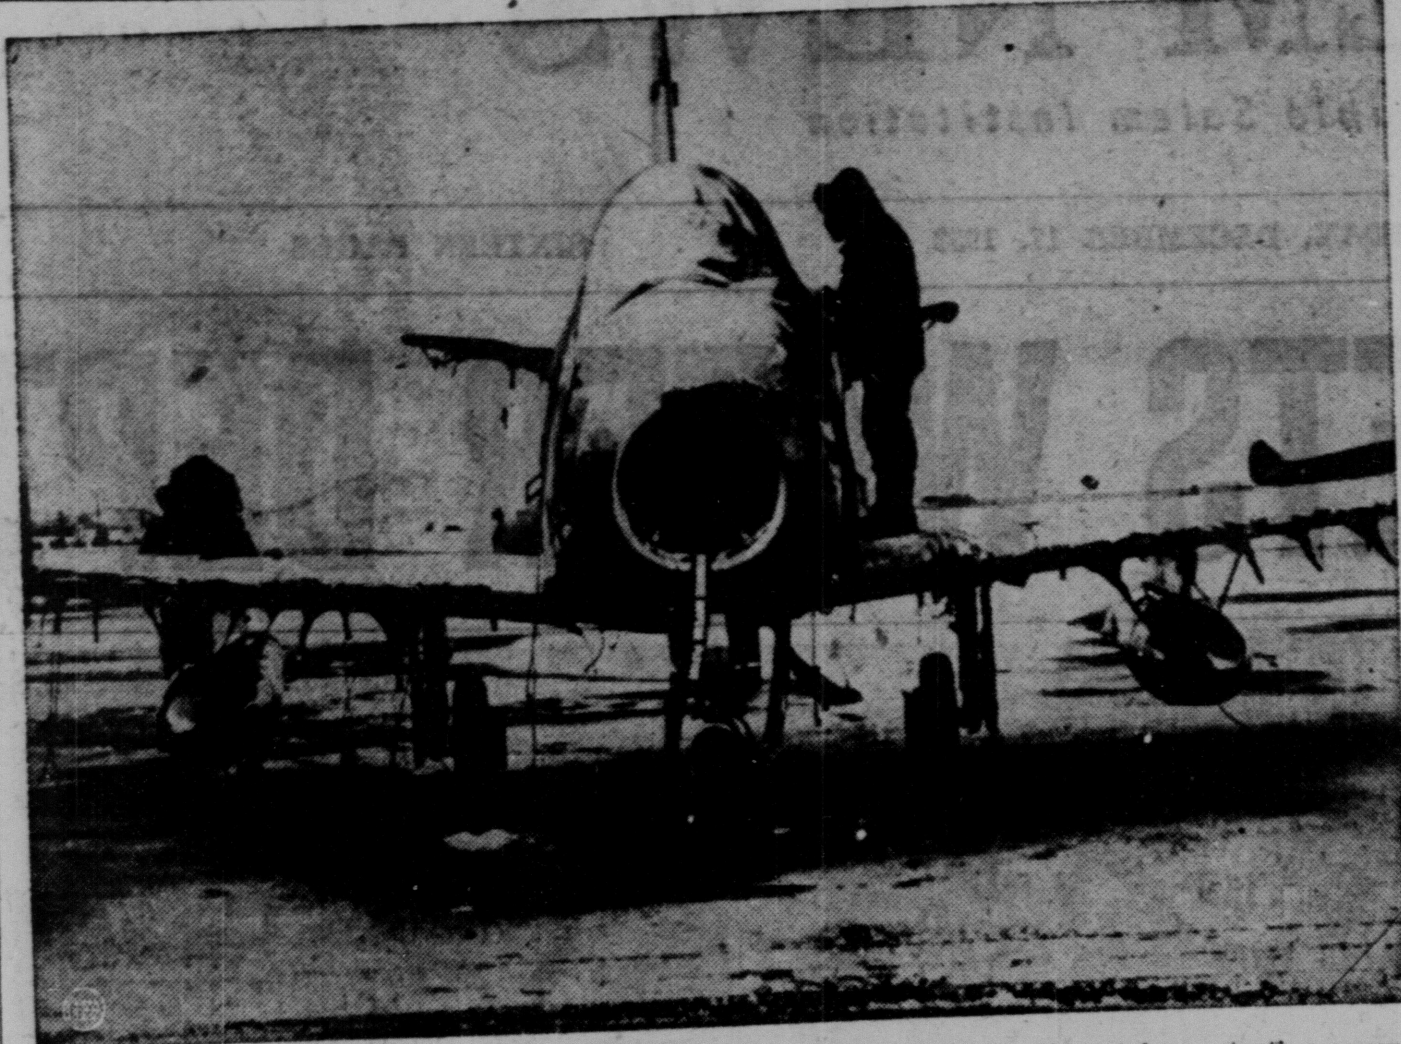

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Radio station WWVA will have a special Christmas greeting Saturday for the 7,000 Eskimos who live around Hudson Bay.

The word here is that practically all the 7,000 will be listening at missions and trading posts.

The Eskimos, it turns out, love mountain music and have been regular fans of WWVA musical programs.

Hearing of its special fans more than 2,000 miles away, WWVA asked Bishop Scheffer of Montreal to prepare the Christmas message. A priest, Father Thibert, who has served in the missions maintained by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate in the barren land, translated the message into Eskimo talk and recorded it in Montreal for the broadcast Saturday night.

Legislature To Consider 4-Year Terms For Elected Officials

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio's new legislature read: "This recommendation is designed to permit and encourage improved performance in the offices of the principal executives of the state."

They now serve two-year terms, except the state auditor who already has four-year tenure.

The other elected state officials are governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state and treasurer.

Previous legislatures have side-tracked similar proposals. But the general assembly convening Jan. 5 might give the idea more consideration.

Advocates of the change claim it would provide more continuity for office holders and enable them to give better service. Present officials have to take time out for campaigning every year if they seek re-election, they explained.

Proponents of a convention to consider changing the state constitution offered that argument in support of their stand. The question of a convention met defeat in the Nov. 4 election.

Approval of four-year tenure by the legislature would not assure its adoption. Such a change would require amending the constitution and voters have the final say about that. Legislative approval merely would place the question on later election ballots.

The Ohio Program Commission, a permanent state planning body, decided to recommend a change to four-year terms after a study of the question. The commission accepted the recommendation from its committee on state government, headed by Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University.

Flemming recently was named by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to a special group to study functions of the executive branch of the federal government. He formerly was a member of the federal Civil Service Commission.

The committee recommendation did not say anything about state senators. That was added by the commission on motion of Sen. Joseph A. Bartunek of Cleveland, Democratic minority leader in the last legislature.

Neither the committee nor the commission considered proposals for four-year tenure for state representatives, who now serve two-year terms.

The committee report approved by the commission for transmission to the governor and the legis-

U. N. To Adopt Mild Moroccan Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. hopes to wind up its debate on Morocco today with a vote on two rival—but similarly moderate—resolutions urging France and her North African protectorate to settle their differences.

The General Assembly's Political Committee scheduled the last speakers in debate on the question this morning and planned a final vote before afternoon.

These were the two resolutions before the committee:

1. Sponsored by 13 Asian and Arab nations—Asking France and the Sultan of Morocco to negotiate for an early settlement "in accord with the sovereignty of Morocco, the aspirations of her people" and the U. N. Charter.

2. By 11 Latin American countries—Expresses hope France and Morocco "will continue negotiations on an urgent basis towards developing the free political institutions of the people of Morocco with due regard to legitimate rights and interests under the established norms and practices of the law of nations."

As it became apparent during the debate that the latter draft had the stronger support, Pakistan last night asked that the Latin American resolution be amended to call for negotiations "with a view to bringing about self-government for Moroccans."

3 Teen-Aged Girls Die In Flaming Home

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—A gas-line stove exploded in a two-story house yesterday and three teenage girls were burned to death in the roaring flames.

The victims were trapped in the upper story of the frame structure. They were identified as Lillymae Ferrin, 17, and her sisters, Rachel, 14, and Judy 12, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferrin.

Ike Neutral On Floor Leader

General Won't Take Sides On Senate Post

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower was pictured today as "absolutely insistent on maintaining a strictly neutral position" toward Sen. Robert A. Taft and any other Republicans in the running for Senate majority leadership.

An aide said that under no circumstances would the general take sides—and that support for Taft voiced by two GOP senators after conferences with Eisenhower represented their own views.

This aide, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower is so determined to be neutral that he has declined to discuss the leadership issue with even his closest associates.

The general takes the position, said the aide, that it is a matter for Senate Republicans alone to decide.

There were signs, meanwhile, that if Taft decides he wants the leadership post he will have the backing of a group of GOP senators who supported Eisenhower against the Ohioan for the presidential nomination.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, an Eisenhower adviser during the campaign, conferred with the general yesterday and told a news conference afterward that if Taft wants to be Republican leader of the Senate, "I presume he will be."

And Carlson added he would favor Taft for the job if he bids for it.

Both Carlson and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey predicted there will be no fight among Senate Republicans over the post. They said they are convinced Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire doesn't want it.

Both declared they didn't discuss the matter with Eisenhower. Taft, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, has said he is available for the job but is not making a fight for it. Bridges, minority leader in the Democratic-controlled 82nd Congress, has made it clear he would bid for the majority spot only in an effort to avert a party fight.

The possibility of a battle was underscored when Taft sharply criticized Eisenhower's selection of Martin P. Durkin, the head of an AFL labor union, as his secretary of labor in the new administration. Durkin, a Democrat, backed Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency.

Durkin called on Eisenhower yesterday and told reporters he still wants to get together with Taft to talk over the possibility of amending the Taft-Hartley labor law. Durkin said he hopes to arrange a conference after he takes office Jan. 20.

Asked whether he felt other labor leaders would be satisfied with amendments instead of repeal, Durkin replied that George Meany, new president of the AFL, already had indicated amendments would be all right with him.

On another matter, there were new indications at Eisenhower headquarters that the general will confer soon with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on the Korean War.

Gift For The Wife

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The ordinary worries of the world are as nothing now to millions of American husbands face to face with the hardest problem of the year:

"What shall I get the missus for Christmas?"

No other emergency offers so stern a test of a husband's real mettle.

Buying a wife a present of some kind is easy. The stores are stacked with thousands of lavish gifts. They have hired thousands of lady shopping advisers to help distracted husbands.

But the whole art of a successful family Christmas is to buy a wife exactly the gift she wants. And what is that? Just try and find out. The children subtly make their wishes known by frank and open letters to Santa Claus. But their mother won't do that.

Usually it is no task at all for a husband to find out what is on his wife's mind. He would have to put on earmuffs to keep from knowing.

But just before Christmas she claims up completely. On the question of what she would like to find under her Noel tree she plays a game of "you find out."

If you ask her bluntly, she says evasively:

"Oh, don't you bother about me. I really don't want anything."

Translated from feminine English into masculine English, this means:

"Well, dunderhead, if you come home this Christmas eve with another bottle of that cheap perfume, I'll open it and pour it all over you while you're asleep."

If she is a young bride, she will probably tell her closest girl friend what she really yearns for, and you can find out from her. But veteran wives don't play the game that simply. They confide in no one.

What can a man do? Well, I know one man who asks a ouija board, another who consults an astrologer, a third who seeks the advice of a fortune teller, and a fourth who just goes into a store blindfolded and buys the first thing he bumps into. But all of them say:

"My system doesn't really work. You better try some other one."

There are, of course, a few sound rules to follow. The first few years of marriage a wife is always glad to get things like a television set, an electric oven, or new rug. After that she warns, "If you think my idea of a Christmas present is something to furnish this old house, you're crazy. I want something that shows you really were thinking of me as a person, not as a business partner. I need furnishings more than the house does anyway."

The surefire way out of this dilemma is to buy her an ermine coat or a yacht, and if they are the wrong size she doesn't mind going back later to exchange them herself. But these gaudy trinkets are beyond the reach of the average man's purse, even in the dawn of a new Republican regime.

The only thing a fellow can do is to make the best guess he can and go ahead and buy it. In my own case I have an even tougher problem. I know what my wife would like to have, but there isn't a store in town that stocks it.

When I asked Frances what she would like for Christmas, she said:

"The only thing I really want this year, Rover, is a better husband."

Yugoslav Sentenced For Conspiring With Russia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A former minister of the Macedonian provincial government has been sentenced to 16 years in prison on charges of conspiring with the Russian-led Cominform.

A Yugoslav District Court in Skopje convicted the ex-minister, Djafar Jodra, after hearing prosecution charges that he peddled propaganda against Premier Marshal Tito's government and aided "hostile" groups to escape to neighboring Communist Albania.

Their first child, born in a Birmingham hospital yesterday, was named Kay Frances.

Hensel, an Army master sergeant, lost both arms and both legs when he stepped on an anti-tank mine on Okinawa in 1945.

The Hensels, who were married in 1942, moved from their native Kentucky to Birmingham in 1948. They since have operated a farm at nearby Mt. Pinson.

Crowds File Past Coffin Of Executed Slayer

COMANCHE, Okla. (AP)—A procession of calm, curious spectators, most of whom admitted they "just wanted to see what a real bad man looked like," filed past the open coffin of William E. (Billy) Cook late into last night despite a storm of protest from the convicted slayer's family.

Cook, who admitted six slayings, was executed Sunday at San Quentin Prison, Calif.

His family at Joplin, Mo., asked an immediate halt to the exhibition of the body and claimed the funeral home has violated an agreement.

Couple Mark 73rd Wedding Anniversary; Husband Is 101

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lambeth are celebrating their 73rd wedding anniversary today—a little quietly. They're still a bit tucked under observing his 101st birthday.

On that occasion, Dec. 4, all six children were on hand. There was open house, with friends coming and going, and dinner and a cake. Today there would be a good dinner, at least five of the children present but otherwise "a nice quiet day," said a daughter, Miss Ellen Lambeth.

She said her father, who weighs 113 now, weighed only 70 pounds when he was 19 years old.

"The doctors thought he had heart trouble. If he did, he outgrew it. They say he has a very good heart now—and the blood pressure of a young man."

The Lambeths, born in different Alabama towns, met and married in Deport, Tex. Lambeth was a cattle rancher in Texas, then Arizona, and later a landscape gardener in Palm Springs, Calif. He worked in his vegetable garden through his 99th year.

Now bedridden most of the time, with impaired vision and hearing, he keeps up with current events by quizzing callers.

His wife Ellen, 94 and blind, is cheerful and manages to be up and around. She likes music. Their Christmas gifts will include a record player with both musical records and the talking kind that relate books and current events to the blind.

The recipe for a long marriage? Miss Lambeth, a retired school teacher who lives with her parents, said:

"They say it comes from healthful living, trusting in God and loving each other."

They have 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A Year For New Purposing

The year-long observance of the 50th anniversary of powered flight, beginning today and extending until next December, will be generally considered as a celebration, and properly so.
The disturbing things which men do with their inventions, including crime and war-making,
from time to time grieve occasional yearners
for the "good old days" when a stagecoach
robber could flee neither fast nor far on horseback and relatively few persons could be killed
in battle with muskets or ponderous cannon.

It is unlikely that the Wright brothers, who stopped their bicycle repairing in Dayton to become birds at Kill Devil Hill on December 17, 1903, wondered whether their successor pilots
would drop bombs.

More likely, they envisioned that their Kitty Hawk flights, the four aggregating little over a minute, some day would be followed by planes which could soar for a full hour and span maybe fifty miles. It is on such world-helping progress that inventors dream. Should Franklin have shelved his key-weighted kite,
or Edison hidden his solenoid coils, lest some day burglars should use electric drills on safes?

The Golden Anniversary of powered flight
will be marked for twelve months, none too
long a time considering its significance, none too long for laymen to catch up on aviation advances, not long enough for the world's nations now building more fighting planes than homes or schools to switch from annihilation
to emancipation.

The U. S. Air Force will swoop some F-86
Sabre jets around the Wright Memorial at the speed of sound, 40,000 feet closer to the stars
than the watchers on the Carolina sand dunes,
to help on the initial celebration day to dramatize what Orville and Wilbur Wright began and what later earth-restless mortals are continuing.

The sound of those first crude propellers,
whirled with bicycle chains, has been heard
through the five decades in jungles and over the Poles; that frail fabric and bamboo motorized kite which barely cleared the grass-tops
is now metal and quivering to reach the moon.
Does one dare hope, however faintly, that within the coming Golden Year the chief heritage of these brothers shall become brotherhood, belatedly consecrating super-sonic
triumphs to world comity alone through quickened neighborliness?

A Lesson In Wheat

People of any land have a much better understanding of the theory of economics when it affects their stomachs. That's why the free
affects their stomachs. That's why the free world hopes the story of Europe's wheat will be understood along both sides of the Iron Curtain.

For generations the Russian satellite countries, principally Bulgaria and Romania, were the breadbasket of Europe. Their wheat exports fed many wheat-deficient nations and supported the economy of their own country.

Collectivization under Communist rule has been so clumsy and bungling that wheat production of these countries has dropped off until there is danger of famine. Figures, of course, are not available but reports say hunger will stalk many places where the people are accustomed to being well fed.

On the other hand Turkey with American economic and technical advice and with modern American machines has doubled its wheat output to a record 246 million bushels. There will be plenty for all the country's needs and at least 56 million bushels for export.

This Turkish wheat raised with the aid of American capital and 22,000 American tractors
will meet a large part of Europe's need. It will be hard for Moscow propaganda to explain
why bread on the table comes from Free
Turkey instead of from the nations which produced it before they fell into Communist captivity.

Vishinsky Also Ran

If you are one of the millions who don't understand what diplomats are doing with the Korean prisoner issue, the handling of India's proposal
in the United Nations will deepen your perplexity.

Here was a plan to hedge a few principles and split a few differences for the sake of settling the one question which apparently is blocking a truce in Korea. Secretary of State Acheson cold-shouldered it.

This caused bad feeling between the United States and Great Britain, which had found merit
in India's proposal. Secretary of State Acheson began to see merit in it, too, at that point.

The Soviet Union had said nothing. But the instant Acheson began to speak of India's plan
as "statesmanlike," Andrei Vishinsky, sickle man for the hammer-and-sickle squad in the U.N., cut down the whole proposition as "unsatisfactory and unacceptable." But for once, Vishinsky did not make the first thrust. Acheson beat him to it.

The weather has turned bad in Korea. There isn't much fighting. The slack is being taken up in the comfortable lounges and cocktail bars
of the diplomatic cockpit on Manhattan Island.

Stalin Understands

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Eisenhower's Intentions Are Plain To Kremlin

Too many people — judging by letters and comments — have the impression that Gen. Eisenhower is already operating as president of the United States. They know, of course, that he will not be inaugurated until January 20, but the trip to Korea, the announcement of the names of all the members of the new Cabinet and the actual beginning in Washington of conferences between outgoing and incoming officials have produced a rather unusual impression that policies are being made by the president-elect. This isn't the case.

The hazardous journey to Korea
has been looked upon by people generally as a move designed to find a solution to the problems of the Far East, but there are some critics who think that, because the president-elect hasn't announced
his solution or because he says
there is no magic formula, things aren't a bit different from what they have been.

The real difference is this: The Truman administration has been content to let matters drift. Gen.
Eisenhower, by the carefully chosen phrases of the statement he made on his return, indicates he doesn't intend to let matters drift.
Nor does he plan to announce exactly what he has in mind so that the Communists will know about it in advance.

There wasn't any question, despite Mr. Truman's "sour grapes" attitude, but that a leader with
Gen. Eisenhower's background could learn much from a firsthand
look at the Korean situation.

It is just the kind of problem
that the man who led the Normandy expedition into France in 1944 is capable of analyzing. What the president-elect said on his return is full of significance for those who measure carefully the phrases of a prepared statement. Thus he said:

"I return with renewed confidence that a satisfactory solution
in Korea can be speeded."

This means the general thinks something can be done to change
the outlook from interminable war
to a terminable war based on an honorable truce.

Again he said:
"All of us have long realized
that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end to this war. But at the very least that knowledge prepares for whatever tough task lies ahead."

This means that there isn't going to be a complacency toward or acquiescence in the existing situation. Some "tough tasks" ahead suggest ventures in an intensified war to induce a truce. This is illustrated in another sentence:

"For we face an enemy whom we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only
by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

This is a welcome variation from the old theme that America must do nothing because of a fear of enlarging the war. On that subject
the general touched, too:

"I believe that the architects
of aggression can be made to realize that it would be fateful folly to ignite other conflagrations like the Korean conflict elsewhere in the world."

The foregoing is a warning to Soviet Russia of unmistakable clarity. It will be noted in Moscow that Eisenhower isn't timid and isn't afraid to issue a warning that any enlargement of the "cold war"
by more Koreans would be a dangerous thing for Russia to try. The whole statement, on the other hand
though full of firmness and resolu-
tiveness, is pacific in its nature,
as the general concludes:

"This journey marks not the end
but the beginning of a new effort
to conclude honorably this phase of the global struggle."

The president-elect is being twit-ted by some who misrepresent and distort his campaign speeches. He didn't promise to end the Korean war overnight. But he did promise to do something — to seek and plan a solution.

This he has already started on—a series of steps calculated to bring the Korean War to an end in the not-far-distant future. The results of the Korean trip will be unfolded from time to time after January 20.

It is significant to note the general's comment that "in the strictly military sphere, certain problems of supply have reached rather serious proportions and require only correction."

In due time the world will come to know the meaning of this veiled reference to a stand-still policy which the enemy misunderstood as a willingness to agree to a stalemate.

There is, therefore, distinct progress already toward an ultimate solution of the Korean problem.

Segregation Cases

By RAYMOND MOLEY

While segregation laws in several states were attacked in the Supreme Court last week, the most notable and perhaps the key case
was that involving the school districts of Clarendon County, South Carolina. John W. Davis and other eminent lawyers participated in the argument, and, judging by the questions of the justices, this case will be the focal point in their deliberations.

It has taken a long time to bring this Clarendon case to the stage of argument.

When Gov. James F. Byrnes
was inaugurated nearly two years ago, this case was pending. The plaintiffs were a number of Negro in Clarendon County; the defendants, a number of district school trustees and officials. The case was promoted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and has been argued by counsel employed by
that organization.

The plaintiffs brought suit for declaratory judgment and injunc-tory relief. They asserted that the educational facilities provided for Negro children in that district were inferior and that this amounted to a denial of equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

They alleged further that the segregation of white from Negro children in all public schools was in violation of the same provision in the U. S. Constitution.

Thus, two related but distinct issues were raised — the first,
that the separate Negro schools
were inferior; the second, that no
segregation is constitutional.

The defendants admitted that their Negro schools were inferior,
but maintained that under a new program launched by Gov. Byrnes and the legislature they were being brought to a status equal to that of the schools for white children.

In reply to the second point,
the defendants asserted that the Fourteenth Amendment did not intend to prohibit state legislation
providing for segregation.

The case finally got before a three-judge Federal Court in the Eastern District of South Carolina.
Presiding was the distinguished John J. Parker, Chief Judge of the Fourth Circuit Court. Judge Parker handed down his decision
in May, 1951.

His decision declared that the constitutional and statutory segregation was not in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment. However,
it found that the Negro schools
were inferior and it gave the State and the school authorities six months to develop improvements.

Meanwhile, the State of South
Carolina had provided a $75,000,000 bond issue to improve schools and was beginning to build with special accent on Negro schools.

After the allotted six months,
the three-man court unanimously
upheld the state and district authorities. The case now before the Supreme Court is an appeal from this decision.

The state building program has been progressing very well, despite shortages of steel. Nearly $30,000,000 has already been spent
of which 77 per cent has gone into Negro schools.

In a visit to South Carolina last week, I was told that these new Negro schools are more modern and physically better than the white schools.

Still, there has been no unrest
among the white parents about these improvements. The new building will go on until the goal
of equality will be fully reached.

Meanwhile, the State of South Carolina is officially determined to resort to other means of segregation if the decision of the Supreme Court in this case declares against segregation in the public schools.

At the recent election, an amendment to the state constitution was adopted, providing for the abandonment of the public school system if segregation is prohibited. Under a new system,
the state would grant school funds
to private schools for Negroes and for whites.

The questions of the justices in last week's argument seem to indicate that such a contingency is remote. They would seem to indicate a majority on the side of segregation with equal facilities.

SIDE GLANCES

"Oh, I'm overdrawn again! They seem to have caught up on all the shortages except money!"

Beasts of Burden

The Foreign Policy Association

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

In its search for a pattern of interlocking relationships among organizations active in influencing the American people concerning its foreign policy, the McCarran committee noted the very close cooperation between the Institute of Pacific Relations
and the Foreign Policy Association.

Time after time, before
this committee of the senate, the name of the Foreign Policy Association was entwined with that of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

HERE IS a typical piece of evidence which indicates the intimacy:

"Exhibit No. 1247
April 8, 1942
Mr. Edward C. Carter,
Institute of Pacific Relations,
129 East 52d Street, New York,
New York.

Dear Mr. Carter: Thank you for your letter about our Headline Book, 'Russia at War.' I sympathize entirely with your questions on the subject and I am really alarmed at the amount of distrust
or, to put it more mildly, questioning of Russia that I find here.

"I think we have done a good job of promoting Mrs. Dean's pamphlet through the regular channels. I had in mind that your work with Russian Relief might have suggested certain new areas of interest which the pamphlet might help consolidate.

Sincerely yours,
Anne H. Johnston
Mrs. Anne Hartwell Johnstone, Education Secty."

MOST ORGANIZATIONS of the type we are now discussing are managed not by their directors,
who are usually very busy men
and women, but by the paid staff
who take on managerial authority
and usually do as they please.

The directors rarely know the details of activities and understand less when what is involved are ideological intricacies the nature of which is alien to them. Usually they are selected for their good name and not for their actual activity.

For instance, in the matter of
the Institute of Pacific Relations,
its chairman, Gerald Swope, makes the point that he is not a Communist, Marxist, or fellow-traveler.
Nobody accused him of being anything of the sort. No one has even suspected him. Now does that particularly matter?

The 14 volumes of the McCarran committee testimony show clearly that the IPR was an instrument of Soviet policy in the United States.

NEITHER Gerard Swope nor anyone else can impeach the testimony before this committee, nor has anyone attempted to do it. A correct approach to the problem
would be to confess carelessness in the past and to propose not to be careless again, calling attention
publicly to past errors.

The Foreign Policy Association
has announced a reorganization under a new president, John W. Nason of Swarthmore College. It has received a substantial grant from the Fund for Adult Education
which is a subsidiary of the Ford Foundation.

It is important to note how widespread is the use of Ford Foundation money in the institutions and organizations which influence public opinion. Presumably the Ford Foundation will produce a table showing how its funds have moved into these organizations, particularly those dealing out propaganda.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT, in relation to such an organization as
the Foreign Policy Association,
which is now expanding its service throughout the nation, through FPA branches and local World Affairs Councils, is not who is the chairman of the board or the president or that the money comes from the Ford Foundation, but who is on the staff.

If the staff remains the same as it was when the FPA was interlocked with the IPR, the policies
will ultimately be the same, no matter what the board of directors proposes.

Experience has shown that directors lay down broad operational policies which in no way affect the workings of these organizations.

John W. Davis, who is an astute lawyer, recently testified concerning the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, that in 1946,
Alger Hiss's record, as now known,
was unavailable to the distinguished men who composed the board.
Yet, the fact is that Hiss's record was available in 1939.

The head of the Guggenheim Foundation in another matter also made the point of not knowing of a record that was well-established.
The FBI was criticized before the Cox committee for not being willing to provide such a record, but the State Department or the Department of Justice had it and they could have made it available
if they chose.

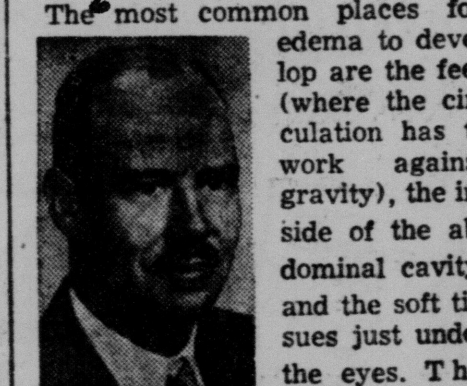

If the Foreign Policy Association
will make their staff public, I am sure that each name can be screened for subversive affiliations.

Health To You

Remove Excess Fluids In Treating Edema

Whenever an excessive amount of fluid accumulates in the tissues, doctors call the condition
edema and almost everyone else
calls it dropsy.

The most common places for edema to develop are the feet (where the circulation has to work against gravity), the inside of the abdominal cavity,
and the soft tissues just under the eyes. The reason is that fluid gathers more easily and can be carried off less promptly from these particular parts.

The presence of edema fluid is not a disease in itself. Dropsical fluid can accumulate and can be kept in the tissues for any one of a number of different reasons.
Sometimes true disease is not present at all—as on a hot day when swelling often takes place in the feet and hands of a normal person.

One of the most common causes of edema is heart disease. When the heart is unable to do its full job of keeping the circulation going in a normal manner, slowing of the blood occurs. If this slowing is too great the blood is not pumped through the kidneys fast enough
and therefore some of the fluids
which should be eliminated from the body through the urine is retained.

In some cases of Bright's disease,
or chronic nephritis, the kidneys
themselves are not able to filter out fluid from the blood as they should. In this case, too, the fluid is simply not eliminated and is kept in the body.

There are other conditions which may produce dropsical accumulation of fluid, but probably the most common are the two mentioned.

In all cases, therefore, when dropsy develops, it is important to find out what is causing it and to remove or remedy the cause whenever possible.

This cannot always be done and
in such cases complicated measures are necessary. These may include special diets or medicines
which alter the chemical substances in the blood so that more fluid can be carried off.

In some cases of dropsy it is possible to give drugs which are called diuretics. Diuretics have the ability, at least temporarily, to increase the secretion of fluid
through the kidneys and its passage in the urine.

Sometimes excessive fluid can be taken off by puncturing the place
where it has accumulated and allowing it to drain out. If fluid has collected inside the abdominal cavity it may be removed from time to time through a needle. In all cases of dropsy, therefore, the measures used must be adapted to the individual circumstances.

Once Over

By H. L. PHILLIPS

This Can Mean War

We look for United Nations to face more trouble this week. Ike Eisenhower may have to put it on his January agenda, too. A disturbance has been brewing for a week. The wives, mothers and grandmas out in Strawberry Point, Iowa, Churubusco, Illinois, Hoxie, Arkansas, and Crotty, Illinois, are not going to take lying down that recent triumph of city
cooking in which a $25,000 first prize and $7,500
second and $2,500 third prizes were all won by Chicago and New York wives and mothers.
Mrs. Peter Harlib, wife of a Chicago cop, took $25,000. Mrs. Charles Reppert of Port Washington (that's close enough to Gotham to be considered a part of it) grabbed the $7,500.
Out of a Fourteenth Street, Manhattan Island,
kitchenette came Mrs. Steve Hornung to win
$2,500. Not a gal from the farmlands and far-away places got into the big money.

City housewives who whip up nifty dishes in narrow kitchenettes amid the noise of elevated trains, subways, street fights and traffic disturbances are still pretty elated. But our Aunt Hattie who lives out in Cherokee, Iowa, insists
she can cook rings around any New York or Chicago woman. And Grandma Hosley, who shakes a mean rolling pin in Eureka Springs (yes, its Springs, not Springs), wants to secede
from the Union. "Snapping turtle chocolate cookies my eye," she sneers at the $25,000 prize-winning dish. "Cookies are kid stuff. Let her try a four-layer cake or a deep-dish pie
for that kind of money." It can mean war.

In these troubled days when A-bombs, insurrections and crime fill the news it is good to see home cooking get into the act; and to find evidence that among some women of the land
the kitchen range is mightier than the cocktail lounge. Few things rate higher in the public mind than food and money and when women from all over the U. S. clash in an All-American Pastry Derby and Hot-oven Olympics it's something.

Where do you think the home cooks gathered?
In the Waldorf Astoria, citadel of professional chefs, which found itself glorifying amateur cooking.

The grand ballroom, filled with stoves, had been taken into a pastry coliseum; a cakes and cookies Rose Bowl. Minks and sables adorned the lobbies but it was strictly aprons in the ballroom, and while a smart orchestra played "Hit Parade" selections downstairs the theme song
upstairs was the simple, old-fashioned fireside
number entitled "Turn the gas lower, Mother;
we don't want the crust to burn." Some show,
if you ask us.

If we had known the $25,000 check writers
were coming we would have had the wife bake
a cake. (She ain't much on Snapping Turtle Cookies, but has a Sleeping Alligator Cream Puff with Chopped Livers that can knock your eye out.)

In Indianapolis a burglar stole the burglar alarm. . . . This tops the case of the thief who stole a police auto with the cops still in it.

Preacher Roe, famous baseball star, missed
a deer four times on a recent deer hunt and we hear he then explained, "I decided to walk
it to get at the next one up."

A 700-car garage has been opened on the site of the old Hippodrome in New York. . . . We drove down into the basement level and tooted
our horn loudly just in case there were any bathing girls, spear bearers, dog trainers or vaudeville stars in our path. . . . And we warned
the man to put our car where no elephant would scratch it.

It is reported that the AFL will pursue a hands-off policy toward the New York waterfront union which is up to its neck in the mobster operations. . . . But when you take a hands-off policy in this matter, aren't you supporting a hands-off policy? . . . Employers are being flayed as cowards and the police are be-should be pointed out that the shocking New York waterfront reign of terror has been going on for years, despite campaign after campaign
by the papers, and that the really guilty parties
are conniving politicians, "fixers" close to city government, prosecuting officials who shrink
from a big job involving headaches, and city administrations asleep at the switch, or worse.

A man who had been a motorman on the New York BMT for fifty years retired the other day. . . . He began on a cable car but spent most of his life as a subway motorman.
. . . A half century is a long time to wait to get out of a hole. . . . For all these years he has been observing subway station jams and it is going to be pretty tough up there above ground where people more or less behave like human beings.

Progressive Mothers Club Plans Aid To Needy Family

Playing "Santa" to a needy family will be the role of members of the Progressive Mothers Club, who met Tuesday evening for their Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Walter Gray on E. State St.

Mrs. Allen Chandler presided at the short business session when the mothers voted to give all necessities and the trimmings of a Christmas dinner to an unfortunate family. They also will supply staples.

Decorations in the Gray home lent a Christmas atmosphere to the party and a large Christmas tree was an attraction. The meal setting continued the Yuletide theme with snowmen and candy canes.

The president, Mrs. Chandler, and vice president, Mrs. Thomas Crothers, presided at the refreshment table. Laid with a dark green cloth, the table was lighted by red tapers in silver holders. A tree of red Christmas ornaments, and tiny red tree candles, which were used as favors, added beauty to the arrangement.

A program was presented by Mrs. Thomas Crothers, chairman. Family traditions of each household represented augmented Mrs. Crothers' talk, centered about "4,000 Years of Christmas."

Christmas gifts received from secret pals were opened during the evening. Roll call was answered by describing "my most wonderful Christmas." Entertainment was provided in the game "Cootie" and prizes went to Mrs. Ray Dean and Mrs. Kenneth Pinkerton.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Gray for the party were Mrs. Lester Bateman and Mrs. James Giffin. Mrs. Crothers will be hostess at the next meeting Jan. 6.

Salem City Hospital Auxiliary Completes Plans For Dance

"Gardenia Ball" is the dance project of the members of the Salem City Hospital Auxiliary for Saturday Dec. 27, in the Masonic ball room. The sale of tickets will provide for needed equipment for the hospital. The Patti-Lynn orchestra from Cleveland will play for dancing.

Tickets are now on sale by all the auxiliary members, and they also may be secured at Arbough's Furniture Store and Bloomberg's Clothing Store. Co-chairmen for the dance are Mrs. George Perrault and Mrs. Lester Bateman.

Interest in the dance is shown in the patron list to which more names will be added. Included are:

Mr. and Mrs. Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brian, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brian, Mr. and Mrs. James Britt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Lozier Caplan, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Easy Cranberry Muffins

Easy? Oh, very! These cranberry muffins, rich with Holiday flavor, can be made in a few minutes.

A speedy pancake ready-mix eliminates several steps in measuring and assures perfect, golden-crusted muffins every time. The chopped, raw cranberries permeate the batter in baking and lend a tingle-fresh fruit flavor that is a delightful surprise. Serve the muffins for luncheon with a creamed chicken or turkey main dish. Their tartness will be a delicious contrast.

Cranberry Muffins

1 cup chopped raw cranberries
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 1/4 cups milk
2 cups pancake ready-mix
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Mix chopped raw cranberries with sugar and allow to stand for 5 to 10 minutes. Add beaten egg and milk to pancake ready-mix. Mix lightly. Add sweetened cranberries. Fold in melted shortening. Fill greased muffin cups two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 2 dozen tiny muffins.

Note: One cup whole cranberry sauce may be substituted for raw cranberries and sugar in the recipe. Proceed as above.

Old-fashioned Applesauce Raisin Bread is a fruity moist loaf. Its flavor mellows on standing for a day. Plump raisins, nutmeats and rolled oats make it a good addition for the children's lunch box.

Applesauce Raisin Bread

1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Two-thirds cup brown sugar

Degrees To Be Given By K. Of C. Members

When members of the Knights of Columbus met Monday evening at their club rooms, plans were made for first degree exemplification of approximately nine new members Jan. 12.

Plans were also made for the New Year's Eve party for members and friends at the club rooms. Committee members consist of Edwin Probert, Robert Bricker, Anthony DeCrow and Urban Lepping.

Members agreed to donate to the Memorial Building fund sometime after the first of the year.

The next meeting will be Jan. 5.

Lions Auxiliary Has Christmas Party

Mrs. V. C. Hart was hostess to the Lions Auxiliary Monday evening when 17 members met for their annual Christmas party at her home on the Painter Rd.

Mrs. Robert Clunan, president, had charge of the business session. Dr. V. C. Hart showed movies of the Lions International convention he attended last summer at Mexico City.

Mrs. Homer Logue and Mrs. Robert Clunan poured when a buffet lunch was served at a table covered with a green cloth. A sleigh bearing miniature gifts, pine, and white candles was used as the centerpiece in keeping with the colorful Christmas decorations throughout the home.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Hart were Mrs. Louise Cowan, Mrs. Elwood Hammell, Mrs. John Kehrer and Mrs. Jack Harroff. A Christmas gift exchange for members was also held.

The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 19, with Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. R. T. Jennings as hostesses.

Philathea Class Has Dinner, Gift Exchange

Members of the Philathea Class of the First Friends Church enjoyed a dinner Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Tolson of W. Third St. for a business meeting and social evening.

President Robert Ellyson presided. Greetings in the form of a "round robin" were written to three servicemen and their wives, Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Grant Knavel, Pvt. and Mrs. James Harp and Pfc. and Mrs. Walter Christensen.

Contest prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wilbur Kurtz, Mrs. Milford Landwert and Mrs. Robert Ellyson. A gift exchange was enjoyed. Mrs. Tolson, teacher, was presented a gift by the class.

The next meeting will be Jan. 6.

Diehl Lake Members To Hold Holiday Fete

Members of the Diehl Lake Country Club will hold a Christmas party for their families and guests at the clubhouse Friday at 8 p.m.

On the program for the evening will be group singing, an amateur talent contest and games. Refreshments will be served, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin as chairmen, assisted by their committee, Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Curry and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bowman.

Mrs. Frank West of 726 E. Fifth St. was called to Dover, Del., the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Master Sgt. and Mrs. Alfred Edds, because of the sudden illness of Sgt. Edds.

Book Club Sees Old, New Ways To Trim Trees

When members of the Salem Book Club met Monday at the public library, Mrs. Howard Milligan brought two little decorated Christmas trees to show contrast between the old-fashioned and modern methods of trimming.

The first tree, trimmed with strings of cranberries and popcorn, was complete with miniature candles fastened by metal clips. The second tree had tiny ornaments and electric lights, depicting the present-day trend.

Mrs. Edna Trotter told about the first set of Christmas tree lights sold in Salem in 1912, which were bought by her husband.

Mrs. Maurice Sadler, president, gave invocation. Mrs. Loren Early sang "Twas The Night Before Christmas."

Other program highlights were a paper on "The Old Fashioned Christmas" by Mrs. Elbert Vincent, and a Christmas story, "Bethlehem Star," by Mrs. C. H. Waldron.

Miss Wilma Schulte, home economist, gave a baking demonstration. She displayed Christmas cookies, a cookie house and novelty figures made of puffed rice and popcorn. She also showed individual fruit cakes the size of cup cakes.

Mrs. Wayne Helm received one of the novelty figures as a prize. Red table cloths added holiday color to the displays.

Mrs. Sadler and Mrs. Warren Brown presided at the tea table. The hospitality committee in charge of tea included Mrs. Matt Melitschka Jr., chairman, Mrs. C. R. Greenstein, Mrs. Ralph Long Sr., Mrs. Charles Senevel and Mrs. Howard McDonald.

A table on the stage was stacked with miscellaneous gifts to aid the Salvation Army Christmas program.

Mrs. A. H. Schropp invited the group to view the Christmas display at her home on W. Seventh St.

The next meeting will be Jan. 5 at the library.

Rev. Davis Addresses Bible Class At Dinner

Rev. C. Clare Davis, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was guest speaker at the Christmas dinner meeting of 52 members and guests of the Methodist Unity Bible Class Saturday evening in the church.

"The Christmas Fable of Benjamin and the Olive Tree" was the story Mr. Davis told on the program arranged by Mr. and Mrs. George Dressel. Mrs. Fred Smith entertained with two piano selections, "Star of the East" and "Silent Night."

Girl Identifies Ohio GI As Soldier Who Abducted Her

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Mamie Ruth Shelton, 18, today identified Pvt. Eugene R. Walters by his voice as the man who allegedly abducted her and made indecent advances at gunpoint.

The petite red-haired American girl was spared the embarrassment of describing her experience before a curious public. Her testimony was heard only by the 12-man military court which is trying Walters. Reporters were given a brief account of the testimony by court officials.

They said Miss Shelton admitted she could not identify Walters by sight. But the accused 31-year-old soldier from Harrod, O., was directed to utter a series of statements which she said were made by her assailant.

Asked if she could identify that voice, she said "yes."

Asked where she first heard it, she said it was last Feb. 3 in the car where she was held prisoner.

Miss Shelton, step-daughter of Master Sergeant, F. B. Burns of Hot Springs, Va., was slightly nervous during her three hours on the witness stand, but "did not seem very upset," court members said. She emerged from the courtroom smiling and skipped over to seat herself on the lap of her fiancé, Sgt. Herbert L. Evans, of Roxboro, N. C., who was with her when she was abducted.

Miss Shelton was the first witness to identify Walters as the gun-carrying assailant who allegedly robbed Miss Shelton's two soldier companions and drove off with her in their car.

The phrases which Walters repeated for Miss Shelton to identify his voice, were "of course," "move over," "do you know where this road leads to," "where do you live?" and "how old are you?"

Miss Shelton said her assailant told her that he was a Russian, although he was dressed in a U. S. Army uniform and spoke English.

Walters' defense attorney brought out in cross examination that Miss Shelton previously had described her attacker as five feet four or five inches tall while Walters is actually about five feet eleven.

Walters' attorney, Capt. Florindo M. De Rosa, protested the closing of the court. He said it violated the defendant's right to a "fair and open trial."

But the court's legal adviser, Maj. Neil Keller denied the objection and ruled that court martial regulations permit closing such hearings "for security and other good reasons."

Walters disappeared from his military post the day of the crime and eluded a widespread hunt for eight months. He surrendered voluntarily in Berlin last October.

Walters pleaded innocent to the charge of abducting and molesting Miss Shelton, as well as to accusations that he stole an Army jeep and pistol and robbed the two sergeants.

Santa To Answer Letter From Canadian Boy

YORKVILLE, O. (AP)—An 8-year-old boy in the Canadian province of New Brunswick wrote the following letter to Santa Claus and fastened it to a Christmas tree being shipped South:

"Dear Santa: I am a little boy, age 8 years old, I go to school and in grade three. I have two miles to go to school I have two brothers and six sisters. "My Mommy has been sick for two years past, and we are very poor. I wish you would, dear Santa, remember me this Christmas. I would like anything you would bring, dear Santa."

The letter was signed by Mur-

Search For Lost Children Renewed

NAPERVILLE, Ill. (AP)—An intensive 10-day search for two missing children was renewed today after the grim and tedious job of draining a huge quarry failed to yield their bodies.

The hunt for the youngsters, a 6-year-old girl and a 3-year-old boy, developed into a community project.

"We're mighty proud of our people," Mayor Charles Wellner said. "They've done their best."

For the last week residents of Naperville have kept vigil at the quarter-mile-wide quarry. The pumping operation, an around-the-clock project by volunteer workers, trailed the missing children to the quarry's edge.

Hundreds had joined in the search on Dec. 7 shortly after the children, Jean Petersen and her next-door playmate Edward Rosenstiel, had been reported missing. Forty square miles of countryside were covered by police, deputy sheriffs, Boy Scouts and hundreds of volunteers.

Moore Favored To Take Crown From Maxim

Odds Are 8-5 On Contender

Expect 14,000 Fans To View Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Old man Archie Moore, fulfilling a youthful ambition at 36, ends a 10-year trail to the championship ring tonight in his 15-round title scrap with Light Heavyweight Champ Joey Maxim.

This is a chance of a lifetime for Moore, and it almost took the St. Louis Negro a lifetime to gain it. For almost a decade Archie has been brushed off by light heavyweight champions, a sad fate for an 18-year-old beginner who had planned to get a title chance and retire at 25.

Despite the time lag, now that Moore has the opportunity he's expected to take the 175-pound crown from Maxim, a 30-year-old gent from Cleveland. The odds give Moore the edge at 8-5, but they'll probably vary to close to even until the two men enter the ring.

A crowd of about 14,000 fans is expected to pay about $85,000 to see the International Boxing Club's attraction at the arena. The 9 p.m. CST (10 p.m. EST) bout will be telecast and broadcast nationally over CBS with only the St. Louis area blacked out.

More than $60,000 in receipts has been laid away already, and that was enough to establish a new St. Louis record.

To that expected $80,000 haul you probably can safely add a minimum of $50,000 to the purse. That represents the radio-TV sponsor's reported purchase price for the air rights.

Maxim has been guaranteed about $75,000 in making his third defense of the world title he took from England's Freddie Mills in 1950.

But the fact he'll receive only a token payment doesn't bother Moore, who insists, "The main thing is that I'm finally getting my shot. I know I can beat him. I'm going to knock him out."

Maxim retorts: "I'm the champ and I'll still be the champion when the fight's over."

BATTERY—The East has seeds of ammunition to fire at the West in the Shrine game at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium, Dec. 27. Among the pitchers will be Quarterbacks Charlie Maloy, left, of Holy Cross and Ohio State's Tony Cuccillo, right. Georgia's Harry Babcock is among catchers.

Commissioner Frick Is "Mum" On Jackie Robinson Issue

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, who recently stated in a television interview that the New York Yankee front office was against the hiring of Negro players, will not make any such criticisms henceforth.

The brilliant Brooklyn second baseman will refrain from referring to the absence of presence of Negro ballplayers in the major leagues as long as he remains in baseball.

A suspicion that Robinson had been silenced on orders of higher-ups stemmed from Commissioner Ford Frick's reply to a question whether he had discussed the matter with Jackie.

"I prefer not to discuss the matter," answered Frick. "It has been handled."

Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, not Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, was the highest salaried player in 1952, it is now revealed. The major leagues' home run king drew $90,000 last year, $10,000 more than Musial earned.

The $90,000 figure came to light when a Pirate spokesman, discussing the club, remarked:

"Kiner wasn't a $90,000 ball player last year and I think he knows it as well as we do. I have a hunch he's prepared to take a cut but I don't know whether he'll accept the full 25 per cent."

There will be no austerity program at the Philadelphia Phillies' training camp in Clearwater, Fla., this spring, Manager Steve O'Neill told this writer in Phoenix, Ariz., last week that he planned to erase all the "don't" and "shall not" rules which were imposed upon the players by Eddie Sawyer, former Phil pilot, last year.

"The players will be allowed to bring their wives and families to camp," said the fatherly O'Neill. "They will be permitted to swim, play golf, cards, fish and relax on the beach if they wish. As a matter of fact, this is nothing new. I took over."

Van Brocklin, who last year lost the passing honors to teammate Bob Waterfield by the narrowest margin in league statistical history, edged out Green Bay's Tobin Rote for 1952 air laurels. The Los Angeles ace had an average 8.47 to Rote's 8.08.

Van Brocklin completed 113 passes of 205 for 1,736 yards and 14 touchdowns. Rote threw 157, clicked with 82 for 1,268 yards and 13 TDs while dividing duties with Vito (Babe) Parilli. Parilli finished third with an average eight yards per try, 77 completions, 1,416 yards and 13 TDs.

Other 1952 individual department champions are:

Gordon Soltan, San Francisco's first NFL scoring champion with 94 points—TDs, 34 conversions and six field goals; Horace Gillom, average of 45.7 yards per boot; Mac Speedie, Cleveland's great pass receiver with 62 caught for 911 yards and five TDs; Jack Christiansen, Detroit, in punt returning with an average of 21.5 on 15 carries.

Lynn Chandois, Pittsburgh, in kickoff returning with an average of 35.2 yards on 17 runbacks, and Dick Lane of Los Angeles, who not only won the pass interception title but set a new record of 14 for 298 yards.

Dan Sandifer, for Washington in 1948 and Orban Sanders for the New York Yankees in 1950 held the old record of 13 interceptions in one season.

Des Koch Top Punter In College Football

NEW YORK (AP)—A matter of less than four inches per kick kept Colorado from making a clean sweep of the major college punting leadership this fall. That was the margin by which Des Koch of Southern California beat out Colorado's Zack Gordon for individual honors.

Gordon, champion kicker in 1950 and trying to become the second player in modern times to win the title twice, finished with a 43.4 yard average to Koch's 43.5 in final statistics released today by the N. C. A. A. service bureau.

Koch's narrow margin returned the punting crown to the Pacific Coast for the first time since Bob Waterfield won it for UCLA in 1944.

Colorado, in winning the team punting average with an average of 43.3 yards per kick, as well ahead of the second team, Southern Methodist, with 41.3, and Southern California, with 41.2.

Rumors Fly That Sedgman May Turn Pro

SYDNEY (AP)—The No. 1 tennis players of the United States and Italy, Vic Seixas and Fausto Gardini, meet tomorrow in the opening singles match of the interzone finals, but the Australian headlines of the moment concern one Frank Sedgman.

Generally considered the finest amateur racket swinger in the world, Sedgman has this whole nation buzzing over the prospect that he will turn professional and tour the U. S. and other countries after the Davis Cup Challenge Round to be held Dec. 29-31 in Adelaide.

There is little doubt that the Australian cup holders will meet the U. S. for the big vase which is emblematic of world supremacy for the amateurs. Tony Trabert of the U. S. plays Italy's Gianni Cucchi in tomorrow's second match.

Pino Bono, manager of the Italian cup forces, already has booked passage to Rome for Sunday night.

"We have not made any bookings to Adelaide because we think the Americans will be very difficult to beat," Bono told a reporter. That view is shared by all after Italy barely defeated India for the right to play the U. S.

Sedgman has obtained a tax permit to leave Australia Jan. 3, but has refused to admit he will sign professionally.

Leetonia Cagers Win First Game

LEETONIA—Leetonia won its first game out of five starts Tuesday night when it defeated Fairfield in a home game 62 to 56.

The Leetonia cagers took a six-point lead in the first period and held their margin through every quarter.

Joe Billet paced Leetonia with a score of 25 points, Ronnie Graham scored high for the visitors with 23 points.

The Leetonia reserves won their tilt by a score of 25 to 23.

The tickets will be picked up then and taken to the High School where the ticket window will open at 6:35 p. m.

Cope stated the season tickets are moving rather slowly.

Plans are moving ahead in connection with the third annual basketball open house to be held Thursday night in the gym at 7:30 p. m. when Quaker Coach John Cabas will welcome the general public to a regular practice session of his team.

All fans and parents are invited to see how a basketball team holds a practice session and how the coaches prepare the boys for a game.

The Salem squad, trying to snap back after taking two disappointing losses last weekend, is working harder than usual this week for the upcoming game with New Castle.

New Castle, Cabas' former hometown, comes here with a flashy 3-1 record, boasting of four lettermen and plenty of height.

Last season, the visitors trounced the locals 53-35, adding the regional influence to this game in addition to Cabas' hopes of impressing the hometown folks.

The reserve game will start at 7:30 and the Varsity at 8:45.

Springfield cagers jumped off to a 10-point lead in the first period but Lisbon erased the gain by halftime and retained its close lead until the end.

Dean Nicholson led the attack for Lisbon by scoring 22 points. Bryan was the high marker for the visiting team with 21 points.

Lisbon will play Youngstown Rayen at home Friday.

The Lisbon reserves also won their game Tuesday by a score of 33 to 31.

Salem Junior High Team Whips Minerva

The Salem Junior High School team, racking up its third consecutive victory of the season, barely edged the Minerva Juniors, 23-22 Tuesday afternoon in Minerva.

The little Quakers, trailing 16-12 at halftime, held Minerva completely scoreless in the third period while scoring 5 points to take a slim 17-16 lead at the end of three quarters.

The teams broke even in the thrill-packed final period to give the locals the victory.

Johnny Stephenson, scoring ace of the Junior High squad, again paced the point-makers, netting 6 markers. Bill Schuster had 5.

The small Minerva floor somewhat hampered the efforts of the Salem cagers, while the scrappy Minerva boys, using a tight zone defense, pushed the usually high-scoring future varsity stars to the limit to win.

The Salem Seventh grade squad, with Larry Hepler and Larry Snyder leading the way, meshing eight points each, handily walloped the Minerva Seventh graders, 51-15.

Rams, Lions Set For Playoff Game

DETROIT (AP)—Will the defending champion Los Angeles Rams—who played in 101 degree heat last Sunday—freeze up in the 25 degree chill of Detroit's Briggs Stadium next Sunday?

You'll hear that question among fans talking about the forthcoming tie-breaking, post-season playoff game between the Rams and the Detroit Lions for the National Conference title in the National Football League.

Coach Hampton Pool of the Rams—who can be expected to argue thus for psychological reasons—thinks the cold weather will hurt the Rams.

Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions—who can be expected to argue the other way—also thinks the cold weather will hurt the Rams.

Bookmakers around Detroit—especially those who remember how the Rams lost the NFL title two years ago in a similar sudden change of temperature—think the cold weather may hurt the Rams.

The bookies have made the Lions one point favorites. That doesn't mean too much—it's the nearest thing to an even choice.

Fordham Considers Abandoning Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Announcement that Fordham is considering abandonment of intercollegiate football re-emphasized today the depths to which the sport has fallen in the metropolitan New York area.

Fans in the nation's largest city, which provides the pulsebeat of other major sports, now quite blandly accept the fact that college football here is strictly minor league. Hopes of any improvement are bleak.

New York University, which reached great heights under John F. (Chuck) Meehan back in the roaring '20s, now plays a second-rate schedule. Columbia is one of the door mats of the Ivy League. Fordham is talking de-emphasis and possible resignation.

The best record of these three main New York teams during the past season was two victories, and all shared that.

Fordham won 2, lost 5 and tied 1 game. NYU had a 2-5-1 record also while Columbia finished with an even poorer over-all mark of 2-6-1. All together, they won 6, lost 16, tied 3.

The Rev. Vincent Hart, director of university development, revealed yesterday Fordham lost approximately $50,000 during the past season and has a $200,000 deficit for a seven-year period.

He said the university is surveying its football program to decide on one of three courses:

1. To continue the present setup.
2. Drop football.
3. Adopt a middle course of de-emphasis on a "back to the campus" plan.

Retiring Coach Odell To Get Full Salary
SEATTLE (AP)—The University of Washington is in the market for a new football coach and apparently won't have to do much shopping. But it will have to pay outgoing coach Howie Odell his full 1953 salary—reputedly $15,000—to get him to leave.

Odell announced his enforced retirement from the university's pigskin picture himself—apparently beating to the punch the school officials who told him he wouldn't be wanted on the Husky campus next year.

Conjecture on his successor has narrowed down pretty generally to two men. Both already are on the university coaching roster. They are Johnny Cherberg, freshman coach, and Neil (Skip) Staley, Odell's backfield coach. Cherberg is considered to have the inside track.

Greentree Stable's Straight Face is aptly named. His mare was Expression, the daughter of Never Change.

Sabres Down 1 Red, Damage 4

Sharp Patrol Clashes Reported On Front

SEOUL (U-P) — Allied Sabre jet pilots shot down one Communist MIG15 jet and damaged four in four dogfights over North Korea today, the Fifth Air Force said.

The destroyed MIG went down in flames. Pilots said it crashed just north of the Yalu River, the Korean-Manchurian boundary.

Col. James K. Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., was credited with the MIG kill. He is commander of the 4th Fighter-Interceptor Wing.

Credited with damaging MIGs were 2nd Lt. Paul J. Jacobsen, Elmore, Minn.; Capt. Vincent E. Stacy, Crystal Falls, Mich.; Maj. Vermont Garrison, Mt. Victory, Ky., and Marine Maj. Edwin H. Finlayson, Monticello, Fla.

Yesterday, Sabres shot down at least four MIGs and damaged one. Short, sharp patrol clashes spotted the frozen battlefield, but the U. S. Eighth Army reported that only a few troops were involved.

The sharpest Red probes fell again in the Sniper Ridge area of the Central Front, where six assaults were turned back. On the Western Front, an Allied raiding unit opened up with flamethrowers to overrun a Chinese Communist position northwest of Korangpo.

The Eighth Army announced that from Dec. 8 through Dec. 14, United Nations ground forces inflicted 3,462 casualties on the Reds — 2,215 killed, 1,240 wounded and 7 captured.

FRENCH CAPTURE RED ARMS—Crowds gather in Hanoi to look at an exhibit of captured Communist weapons, seized during "Operation Lorraine." The fighting French forces displayed the arms to show natives that they are fighting to defend them from the Red menace. The weapons were captured in a surprise attack at the enemy's rear designed to destroy Red supply sources somewhere in Indo-China.

Electric Blast Kills Worker, Injures Two

CLEVELAND (U-P) — An electrical explosion in the basement of the Hotel Hollenden killed a workman early today and burned two others seriously.

The blast, exact cause of which was not determined immediately, occurred in the subterranean vaults where the transformers of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. are stored.

The electric company identified the dead man as Carl Brown.

Harold Wagner was burned severely and was on the danger list at Lutheran Hospital.

Also burned was Joseph August, 27.

All three were employed by the CEI and had been doing electrical work in the basement for several days. The explosion apparently occurred when a switch was pulled on a line carrying 4,600 volts, a CEI official said.

Lights in a portion of the hotel and parts of the downtown area were extinguished for more than an hour by the blast.

Writer Commits Suicide In Columbus

She leaped from the eighth floor of a downtown Columbus hotel Tuesday.

Miss Poston, former society editor of the Ohio State Journal, registered in the Fort Hayes Hotel shortly before noon. Two hours later she squeezed her way under a window screen and plunged to a marquee eight floors below.

Coroner Robert A. Evans said the death was a suicide. Police found in her room a copy of Eric Ambler's "Judgment on Delchev."

It pictured the jumping woman on its cover.

Miss Poston was on the staffs of Esquire, Readers Digest and Coronet magazines in New York and Chicago since she left Columbus in 1942. Police said she had been under psychiatric treatment and had recently been released from Columbus Receiving Hospital.

Anniversary Of Wrights' 1st Flight Marked

DAYTON, O. (AP)—A two-seated jet-powered fighterplane took off today from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, just 49 years after Dayton's Wright brothers first flew an airplane successfully.

The jet, carrying Capt. Roland C. W. Blessley of the Air Force; a laurel wreath; a proclamation by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, and letters from Dayton's mayor and Chamber of Commerce president.

The first plane by Wilbur and Orville Wright stayed aloft only a few seconds, but the jet flown by Capt. Blessley took only a fraction of the morning to reach Chapel Hill, N. C.

At Chapel Hill, Capt. Blessley transferred to a helicopter for the journey to Kitty Hawk, N.C., scene of the birth of aviation 49 years ago.

The wreath was to be laid on the granite marker at Kitty Hawk. The governor's proclamation made 1953 "the year of aviation" for Ohio.

At 11 a. m., Air Force and civic officials held a ceremony at the Wright Brothers Memorial on a hill overlooking nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

At 6 p. m., a Wright Brothers Day banquet will be held in downtown Dayton. Among prominent aviator guests will be Col. Francis J. Gabriels, ace of World War II and the Korean War; Maj. Charles Yeager, first man to fly faster than the speed of sound, and Capt. J. Slade Nash, holder of the new world's aircraft speed record.

The Wright brothers made their memorable flight at Kitty Hawk Dec. 17, 1903.

Ohio Supreme Court To Rule On Suspensions

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today agreed to review an appellate court decision holding that two suspended Cleveland policemen were entitled to lower court trials.

The appellate court decision said Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court should hear the complete cases and not merely review actions of the Cleveland Civil Service Commission. Common pleas court affirmed the commission.

The commission upheld the public safety director's suspensions of Wayne B. Sorge and William J. Kelch last year on charges of misconduct. They were accused of making false statements during investigation of the sudden retirement of a police inspector to permit promotions before expiration of a civil service eligibility list.

Atomic Scientist Becomes Minister

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—William G. Pollard, atomic scientist and executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, was ordained into the ministry of the Episcopal Church today.

But Pollard, 41, pointed out in advance of the ceremony that his decision to enter the ministry had nothing to do with any sense of guilt over the atomic bomb. He will continue his nuclear research.

Pollard, who worked on the atomic bomb project at Columbia University during World War II, said many persons assumed erroneously that he had "been driven into the ministry through a sense of guilt or disillusionment."

Others assumed "that I have become convinced that Christianity offers the best of several possible solutions to mankind's problems."

He said neither of these explanations is "at all close."

"Ultimately, it goes back to the influence of my wife in her insistence that we should have a Christian marriage and bring up our children in a Christian environment," he said.

Proposes Free Postage For Overseas GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Secret (D-Ohio) said today he is preparing legislation to permit packages to be sent postage-free to service-men overseas.

He told a reporter that Howard M. Cole, Ohio Department commander of the VFW, recently informed him that the organization's ladies auxiliary had to pay more than $400 postage on boxes they shipped to troops in Korea.

Secret wrote Cole he felt postage on such parcels is "excessive."

Lattimore

Carran (D-Nev.), recommended last July that the Justice Department lay before a grand jury the question of whether Lattimore had committed perjury.

The seven-count indictment grew out of Lattimore's 12 days of stormy testimony before the subcommittee during its long investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a privately-financed research organization.

The subcommittee said Lattimore, long a prominent figure in IPR affairs, "was, from some time beginning in the 1930s, a conscious and articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy."

The report called Vincent "the principal fulcrum of IPR pressures and influence in the State Department."

Both Lattimore and Vincent figured prominently in a Senate investigation in 1950 into McCarthy's Communists - in - government charges, as well as in the IPR inquiry.

The indictment charges that Lattimore, contrary to his denial before the internal security subcommittee, "had been a sympathizer and promoter of communism and Communist interests."

The other counts of the indictment alleged Lattimore committed perjury when he said:

That a trip he took into Communist China in 1937 was not by pre-arrangement with Communist authorities.

That a meeting he had with the then Soviet ambassador, Constantine Oumansky, took place after the German invasion of Russia in 1941. (The indictment said the Hitler-Stalin pact was still in effect at the time of the meeting.)

That he was not told Dr. Chiao Ting Chi, described by the Senate subcommittee as a Communist agent in the IPR, was a Communist.

That he had not published articles in Pacific Affairs, IPR magazine of which he was editor, by Communists other than Russian contributors.

That he had not handled Lauchlin Currie's White House correspondence while Currie, an aide to the late President Roosevelt, was away.

That he did not know Asiaticus, a writer for Pacific Affairs, was a Communist.

Protesting his innocence, Lattimore said:

"That innocence should have to be so long defended against such vengeful harassment as I have been subjected to for three years, is something that can be better commented on by others than by myself."

"All that I can do is, in the words of a namesake of mine, to 'be of good comfort and play the man'; for if I should not, it would be an evil day in our country for freedom of conscience, of research, and of comment."

"These are freedoms that should be guarded by all, but by university professors with a special devotion."

Lattimore said the "be of good comfort" quotation was from Hugh Latimer, who was burned at the stake in 16th century England "on a question of conscience."

The District of Columbia Code, under which Lattimore was indicted, provides a maximum penalty of 2 to 10 years on each count.

Violent Winds Hold Up Salvage Of Ship

LEGHORN, Italy (AP)—Violent winds and heavy seas resumed their battering of the broken U. S. refrigerator ship Grommet Reefe today, holding up Navy plans to attempt salvage of the 3,800-tonners grounded halves and the 176 or so tons of foodstuffs aboard.

Huge waves churned by 50-mile winds again pounded over the ship's two sections firmly lodged on rocks in Leghorn harbor. The ship, under contract to the U. S. Navy and manned by 39 civilians, crashed on the rocks before dawn Monday and split in half.

Navy helicopters plucked the last 13 crewmen from the helpless stern half of the vessel shortly before dark yesterday after a dramatic 36-hour rescue effort. The other crewmen had come ashore earlier, some in a swaying canvas breeches buoy and some by jumping into the rolling seas to be picked up by a small boat.

Salvage of the ship's cargo, including 120 tons of foodstuffs, is being held up by the weather.

"All he does is cash dividend checks"

Last Tuesday, we ordered 20 shares of stock in a utility company for a customer of ours. While we were entering the purchase in the records of his account, this fact jumped out and hit us:

Though he has bought stock 33 times and sold 17 times, this customer hasn't been in our office since the day he opened his account in 1938!

All of his selling and buying was done by telephone. We've kept his stock certificates for him. We've collected his dividends, and sent them on to him. We've kept him posted on all his stockholder privileges. Regularly we send him a complete statement of his account.

Know what these services have cost him? Except for our commission when he bought or sold, not a penny. All free—just part of our way of doing business. If you've always been "too busy to invest," maybe you ought to come in and see how we can take the load off your shoulders.
